

Essay submissions were required to focus on a variety of chiropractic humanities topics. The winners may now submit their essays to the Journal of Chiropractic Humanities for publication.

The 2017 scholarship competition is now open; five winning essays will be selected. The deadline for essay submission is August 1, 2017. Dr. Claire Johnson, of Brighthall Publishing Services, independently administers and judges the scholarship competition. More information is available at <http://mynbce.org/scholarships/>

Headquartered in Greeley, Colo., the NBCE is the international testing organization for the chiropractic profession, with the mission of ensuring professional competency through excellence in testing. Established in 1963, the NBCE develops, administers and scores legally defensible, standardized written and practical examinations for candidates seeking chiropractic licensure throughout the United States and in several foreign countries.
